Therapies: Asian body therapy = bodymindspirit + energy

Shiatsu = works with meridian theory from acupuncture to influence qi flow and restore balance and structure. Essential oils and herbs can be added to treatment

sotai = pain relief and structural alignment using movement that works in the direction of comfort instead of painful manipulation, take-home assignments are part of the therapy

qigong therapy = purely energetic touch therapy that brings relief through energetic intention based on chinese medicine theory moxabustion = burning herbs on the skin to activate and influence qi. relieving pain and other symptoms. Moxa actually is a form of infrared radiation.

gua sha = gentle scraping on the surface of the skin to release toxins, stagnation and heat from the blood -relieves pain too.

tai chi chuan = (taijiquan) slow movement and breathing techniques created as a martial art but used to restore harmony to the qi flow, strengthen and increase awareness and balance qigong, daoyin & meditation = exercises and breathing techniques for alleviating suffering and pain in the body, similar to taijiquan but easier to learn and focused mostly on qi development for health

Specialization Physical therapies based on the movement of Qi as affected by use of mind leading Qi, 5 Elements Shiatsu, QiGong Therapeutic Techniques of emitted Qi and aspects of behavior as they relate to the positive flow and harmony of Qi and the emotions.
Therapy with adults and older adolescents.

Comments: I am dedicated to understanding and offering the methods of using Qi to all who can benefit from them.

Therapies: Expressive Art Therapy, Rapid Eye Movement, Emotional Freedom Techniques, Pathwork Principles, Integrated Systems: Behavioral/Cognitive and Energy Therapies. Transformation Coaching: I pick and choose from the paint palette based on the individual client's needs.
Specialization: Clearing Unconscious and/or Self Limiting Belief Systems, Finding Your Life's Purpose, Living in Alignment, Rewriting Your Story so It's Big Enough to Live Into!
Comments: Integrating Systems: Behavioral/Cognitive and Energy Balancing Approaches, Transformational Coaching
I believe teaching others to help themselves and others is the greatest gift I have to offer. I do individual energy balancing sessions when requested, although my personal preference is providing workshops and personal Life Transformational Coaching, as I find it most empowering.
I utilize Expressive Art Therapy Techniques (incorporating art, meditation, music, writing and movement into the exploration process), Rapid Eye Movement (for clearing long held memory/beliefs), Pathwork Principles (based on transforming negativity, meditation, breathwork, and numerous methods of energy clearing methods in my work. I am also an ordained minister.

Therapies: Hypnosis, EMDR, Reiki, Bio-Energy, Traditional Insight-Oriented Psychotherapy
Specialization: Ericksonian hypnosis, energy and medical psychology (mind/body/spirit treatments for acute and chronic medical conditions), EMDR, grief (including pet loss). All ages. Individual, couple, family, group and play therapy.

Comments: My practice is a general one in that I treat children, adolescents, and adults and do most treatment modalities. I do traditional analytic psychotherapy combined with hypnosis, EMDR, and bio-energy healing. I have attained the Master's level in Usui Reiki and offer both treatment and training in Reiki. I do pet therapy (the use of my and patients' animal companions and their energies in sessions as the animals make themselves available).

Therapies: Healing Touch for Animals, Aromatherapy, Tuning Forks, Hypnosis
Specialization I have trained with Carol Komitor and am completing certification in her Animal Healing Touch Program. I welcome all species and have found that I am particularly helpful to animals in easing their pain, aiding animals and their human companions in making difficult decisions about the animal staying in the physical or dying and leaving, resolving fear biting in dogs, helping rescued animals, especially horses, share their stories and need for a new job, helping injuries and illnesses heal. I am also studying "Heart Talk" with Carol Gurney, and find that my mastery of the third eye enables me to receive clear pictures and feelings and senses and occasionally thoughts from animals, to see, hear, smell, taste, feel, experience the world as they do. What a privilege. Undoubtedly my hypnosis training comes in handy here as well.

Comments: HTA is an energy-based treatment to balance and to eliminate blockages in animals' biofields. Its energy medicine techniques help regulate the immune system and support its healing and maintenance of health. HTA techniques can be used for: preventative health care; veterinary support; injuries and illnesses; physical trauma; recovery from surgery; birthing process; euthanasia; behavioral issues; emotional trauma; abandonment issues; stress management; connecting and bonding; training. ANIMAL COMMUNICATION is a two-way process which may be done in person, at a distance, aloud, or telepathically. It is based on respect and sympathy and takes place when the animal is ready, alive or departed. Animal communication can help you understand your animal's health; know how your animal experiences pain; find out what is behind undesirable behavior; learn your animal's likes and dislikes; learn how your animal feels about changes, i.e., new arrival, food; find your missing animal companion; understand wild animals living in their and your habitats.

Therapies: ENERGY THERAPIES: BSFF, EFT, TAT, TFT (rarely) and team member of the Integrative States Therapy (iSt) development project. Also: Bowen Family Systems Therapy; Cognitive-Behavioral; Narrative. I throw in several more (i.e. Gestalt, Transactional Analysis, Redecision Therapy) when needed.
Specialization Individual/Couples
Comments: I work with clients using the Energy Therapies, Family Systems Therapy, Cognitive-Behavioral techniques and other tools to help reduce or eliminate the “emotional charge” around problematic relationships, memories and situations. Thinking less reactively and feeling less “stuck” paves the way for coaching to learn new ways of reacting to problems, and promotes connection with one’s own inner knowing and competence.

Therapies: Network Spinal Analysis aka Network Care. Network Spinal Analysis aka Network Care grew out of the chiropractic profession. It does not involve the forceful manipulation commonly associated with chiropractic. We use gentle, specific, light touch contacts to cue the nervous system. This allows the body to self-assess and self-correct stored tension, stress and distortion patterns so that the same condition does not keep coming back. As the work progresses, newly reconfigured strategies become automatic neurological responses in the individual's life, allowing body and mind to respond more effectively and easily to healing challenges and life stressors.
Specialization So far, we have not found any limit to how adaptable the nervous system can become, both in terms of healing and resilience to future stress. In my own practice, I have found this work to have unparalleled benefits for pain, stress, anxiety, athletic performance, recovery from injury, headaches, insomnia, inflexibility, stiffness, depression, fatigue, numbing / tingling sensations, posture, and improved quality of life.

Specialization Death/dying/grief – gay/lesbian - geriatrics
Comments: Offering a holistic (body-mind-spirit) approach to psychotherapy, I have been accompanying and supporting adults for over 20 years, as they uncover their best, truest self. With advanced degrees in clinical social work and spirituality, I enjoy addressing such issues as grief/loss/life transitions (death, unemployment, aging, infertility, miscarriage, separation/divorce, retirement) as well as intimacy, addictions, anxiety and depression. Having worked in the corporate world, I bring a variety of lived experiences as I welcome working with culturally-diverse adults and couples, as well as the geriatric and gay/lesbian populations. Additionally, I successfully treat families coping with chronically mentally ill or terminally ill relatives.

Comments: Open since 1993, Crossings offers a truly integrative approach to complementary and holistic healing. Our mission is to create energetic fields that support healing for our clients, and for our culture at large. Integrative care is one of our specialties - Crossings' clients will often receive care from 2, 3, 4 or more different practitioners over time, creating a synergistic and powerful framework for healing and transformation on every level. Crossings is one of the largest holistic healing centers in the Metro DC area, with 27 associates from a wide variety of healing arts backgrounds. We have a busy clinical practice, with about 13,000 client sessions given annually. We also have a thriving education program of classes, workshops, and professional trainings, with about 7,000 student visits per year. Home to a beautiful and energetically supportive classroom space, we host a wide variety of classes, workshops, and trainings. In addition, we offer our services in the corporate and institutional setting through our Corporate Wellness Services division. We welcome your inquiries, referrals, interest in classroom rentals, and interest in our community!

Therapies: Massage Therapy: used to teach at PMTI, have taken various advanced courses. I love to do a fabulous mix of detailed medical deep tissue work and then settle into stillness and watch the fluids integrate the work. Biodynamic Craniosacral Therapy (see craniosacraltherapy.org), Biodynamic Craniosacral Visceral work (there's a mouthful), Reiki, Raindrop Therapy (mmm, healing Essential Oils on your spine, covered by a warm moist towel, stillness...), Chakra Anointing with Essential Oils and Affirmations, Somatic Experiencing student.

Specialization I love to work with practitioners -- deep arm and hand work for bodyworkers, craniosacral and somatic experiencing for people very aware of their bodies... And I also love introducing newcomers to the world of bodywork! I also teach various classes (ask me for a current list), and a monthly Movement and Stillness class: Chakra Anointing on the New Moon, at Crossings, a Center for the Healing Traditions.

Profession: Chakra Energy Balancing
Address: Kensington, MD 20895
Office Phone: 301-949-0378

Email: daphne@hands-to-heart.com
Therapies: Chakra Energy Balancing
Comments: I practice Chakra Energy Balancing with a warm, heart-centered intention. My clients report feeling more clarity and less anxiety at the end of their sessions. I have been studying the dharma as taught by Thich Nhat Hanh for 15 years, and bring a rich spiritual and meditative dimension to my work. I practice chi gong and am an associate instructor of Synergy Dance: I enjoy teaching clients movement and meditative skills to increase their own well-being.
